QUESTIONS OF THE WEEK

(Editor's note: Here are the questions asked most frequently by Virginia farmers during the past week as reported by county agricultural agents. Staff members of the VPI Agricultral Extension Service and/or Experiment Station supply the answers).

Q. What is the best blackshank-resistant tobacco variety?

A. There is no one "best" variety. If you have a three-year rotation and only a slight infestation, Vesta 5 will be astisfactory. If you grow tobacco on the same land each year ,and the infestation is bad, Hicks 187 or N. C. 73 will probably be better. County agents have copies of varietal guides which will give more complete details.

Q. What is the most effective chemical to use to treat tobacco plant beds for weed control?

A. Methyl bromide.

Q. How long before planting my tobacco plant bed should I use a plant bed drench?

A. Depending on soil moisture and temperature ,at least 14 days for AA-EDB, 12 to 15 days for AA-DD, and 14 to 21 days for Vapam.

Q. What variety of alfalfa should I plant?

A. Varieties on the recommended list are Certified Williamsburg, Certified Buffalo (bacterial wilt resistant), Certified Atlantic, Certified Narragansett, Kansas Common, and Oklahoma Approved.

Q. How much snow does it take to equal an inch of rainfall?

A. It depends on whether the snow is "dry" or "wet." Average is about 10 inches.

Q. How close is it safe to graze barley?

A. Don't graze it too close. Leave enough blades to provide protection through the winter—2 to 3 inches.

Q. Should permanent pastures be fertilized now in view of the risk of leaching?

A. Yes. Little or no phosphate or potash will leach from most pasture soils. On extremely sandy soils potash may leach slightly; or on steep slopes where fertilizer is applied when the ground is frozen and there is a heavy washing rain before the ground thaws, there may be some loss.

Lands Disabled Plane

Riverside, Cal.. A 71-year-old woman brought her disabled plane in for a successful belly landing at March Air Force Base recently.

Mrs. Zaddie Bunker, of Palm Springs, and a passenger, Mrs. J. Edwards, of Yelm, Wash., were unhurt in the skidding landing of the light plane.

Mrs .Bunker ,who got her pilot's license when she was 65 said the plane's landing gear failed to lock in place as she came in for a landing.

NATIONAL ELECTRICAL WEEK
Marking the 112th anniversary of Thomas Edison's birth.

How far that little candlepower throws its beams!

Thomas Edison's first successful electric globe of 1879 was low in candlepower by modern standards. But how far, how very far that little candlepower threw its beams! Out across the years ahead to light the way for a revolution in American life.

At first that revolution moved slowly. Even 30 years later, when VEPCO was born, few homes had electric light. For power was a luxury . . . 10¢ per kilowatt hour, at a time when a skilled worker's hourly pay might be 25¢.

Then the revolution began to march . . . as power companies poured millions into more efficient equipment to bring the cost of power within the reach of all.

VEPCO has literally gone around the world for capital. Investors in 49 states and 19 foreign countries have helped this independent Top-of-the-South utility to build the giant power stations and far-striding power lines to serve you.

That is why, today, VEPCO can deliver a kilowatt hour to the average home at about one-fourth the 1909 cost in cash . . . about one twenty-fifth of the 1909 cost in human earnings. Low cost power to help you work better, farm better, LIVE BETTER—ELECTRICALLY!
